Yin Yang

You are now becoming aware how everything is connected in life by two parts. Two parts make a whole. There is a need for you to be in harmonic alignment to your emotional, spiritual, mental and physical parts. When one is not in balance, it will cause the other parts of you to be out of alignment. Focus your understanding on looking into your life. Know that with dark comes lightness and understanding. With matter there is spirit, with, water there is fire, with the moon there is sun. You must be mindful of both sides of all situations in your life and those around you who reside in the physical state.

Flower of Life

You are a very learned soul and have experiences over the centuries. You need to learn that all these experiences are woven into the soul awareness. You may access this power within you at any time. Do not get so caught up in the ego, mentally analyzing how things may work in your life. Instead open your mind more to your spiritual self and have faith that your intuition and soul experiences will guide and lead you from frustration to ease. All life is possible in all thoughts which you create. Be mindful how each thought becomes a part of your own personal tapestry - the energy you are bringing to your world. Knowledge and wisdom are available if you seek it out.
